Overview

2023 International Conference on Future Communications and Networks (FCN) aims to provide a forum that brings together International researchers from academia and practitioners in industry to meet and exchange ideas and recent research work on all aspects of future communications and networks. The first edition of this event, FCN 2023, will be held in Queenstown, New Zealand, on December 17-20, 2023. FCN 2023 is sponsored by FuTURE Mobile Communication Forum, China, and Auckland University of Technology, New Zealand. The conference will feature keynote speeches, invited talks, and five technical symposia.

Topics of Interest

The conference solicits original technical papers that were NOT previously published and are NOT currently under review for publication elsewhere. Prospective authors are invited to submit high-quality papers to the following technical symposia:

- AI-Enabled Communications and Networks (AICN)
- Next Generation Networks and Internet Symposium (NGNI)
- Communications and Signal Processing Symposium (CSP)
- Mobile and Wireless Networks Symposium (MWN)
- Communications and Information Security Symposium (CIS)

Please visit the conference website for detailed topics of each symposium.

Paper Submission Guidelines

Papers should be submitted via EDAS (https://edas.info). Prospective authors should prepare their manuscripts in accordance with the standard IEEE camera-ready format. Submitted papers must not have been previously published in or under consideration for publication in another journal or conference. The FCN 2023 organizing committee reserves the right not to review papers that either exceed the length limit or have been submitted or published elsewhere.

All accepted papers must be presented onsite at the conference. All accepted and presented papers will be included in the FCN 2023 Conference Proceedings.
